DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This communication is responsive to the applicant's amendment filed 04/27/2006. Independent claims 1, 13, 19 and 25 are amended. Thus, claims 1-29 are currently pending in the application.
2. Response to the claim objection is persuasive; the objection of claims 1 and 25 is withdrawn.
3. Response to amendment and argument are not persuasive; the amendment necessitates a new ground of a rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Especially, claims 1, 13, 19 and 25 recite the term "a permanent pixel border...comprising a plurality of pixels" in lines 8-11 of claim 1, in lines 9-12 of claim

Art Unit: 2629

13, in lines 13-16 of claim 19, and the term "a pixel border...comprising a plurality of pixels" in lines 9-10 of claim 25.

Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for "According to FIG. 9, the row and column drivers used for the pixel border do not sequentially scan in one embodiment. In the embodiment discussed above where conventional drivers are available to drive the border pixels, then in this case, row and column drivers used for the pixel border could sequentially scan. The 2x row drivers 450a-450d of the pixel border region 312 are coupled to a threshold voltage driver 430b which provides a constant common voltage level (V_{th2}) when in the on state. Likewise, the 2x column drivers 410a-410d of the pixel border region 312 are coupled to a threshold voltage driver 430a which provides a constant common voltage level (V_{th1}) when in the on state. The difference between these threshold voltage levels comprises a threshold voltage (V_2). The voltage V_2 , or a greater amount, is common to and applied to all pixels of the border region 312 uniformly when in the on state. The difference between these threshold voltage levels comprises a threshold voltage (V_1). The voltage V_1 , or less, is common to and applied to all pixels of the border region 312 uniformly when in the OFF state." See page 22, line 22—page 23, line 9. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

This limitation contains various inconsistencies and/or ambiguities so that the pixels border region of a passive LCD device is unable to work. The pixels border region of the passive LCD device would not be made a product.

The working LCD device configured the pixels border regions/portions that form a digitized image may or may not be in one-to-one correspondence with screen pixels border regions/portions depending on how a computer controls the pixels on and off.

A pixel is one of the many tiny dots that make up the representation of a picture/image. A pixel is generally thought of as the smallest complete sample of an image¹. How does only a pixel/a tiny pixel construct pixels border region/portions surrounding the passive LCD screen? How does a permanent pixel or a pixel...comprising a plurality of pixels?

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 04/27/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues features in the amended claims 1, 13, 19 and 25 that are newly recited. Thus, the new ground of rejection has been moot. See rejection indicated above. For these reasons, the rejection has been maintained.

¹ Please see <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pixel> for further details of the definition of the term "pixel."

Art Unit: 2629

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
